

How to add the Color Incorporated ad to your Live Journal Blog

1. Log into your Live Journal account at the following URL:
<http://www.livejournal.com/login.bml>

2. In the top left hand corner of the site you should see a tab that says “Journal.” Holding your mouse over it should drop down a menu. On that menu click the option that says “Post an Entry.”

3. You should see a similar screen to the one at left, except with your name and image, etc substituted. Click the “Insert/Edit Image” button as illustrated below.

4. This button should bring up a box with the title “Image Properties.” Click on the “Upload” tab, and in that tab select “Image from File.” Browse to the location on your PC of the image file that was sent to you by the Color Inc staff.

5. Click on the “Upload” button. Once the upload finishes, it will redirect you to a new tab. Click “Ok.” You should see the image now displayed in the box where you enter what you would like to post.

6. Add any other desired details, such as a title, caption, etc for the post.

7. Click on the image once. Then click on the “Edit / Insert Link” button. Make sure the protocol box reads “http://” and the URL box reads “colorincprolab.com”. Click “Ok”.

8. At the bottom of the post page, make sure that the “Show this entry to” box displays “Everyone.” Then click the button that says “Post to...”

9. Congratulations! You should now see the appropriate Color Inc image posted on your blog!
